The Elkhorn Mining company, of Ogden, Utah, Moroni Poulter, manager, owning valuable property in Sierra Madre district, a few miles north of Ogden, near the holdings of the Santa Maria, is surveying its group for government patent. In the Elkhorn there is an excellent showing, and it is understood the company will continue work in its development.

The Burro mine, near the head of City Creek canyon, northeast of Salt Lake, has made a shipment of a carload of good ore.

The Pioche-Demijohn, of Pioche, Nevada, has been shipping some high-grade ore, of late, to the Salt Lake smelters.
