Personal Mention

John F. Cowan, prominent mining operator of Salt Lake, has returned from a recent business trip to San Francisco.

Frank Craven and E. J. Burke, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, have returned home from a visit to the oil fields of Wyoming.

L. H. Farnsworth of Salt Lake, president of Walker Brothers, Bankers, has returned from a vacation spent in California.

W. C. Dawey of Nampa, Idaho, was a recent visitor in the Granite district, Oregon, at the Ben Harrison mine, of which he is manager and principal owner.

William T. Leggo, representing the Salt Lake branch of the Denver Rock Drill Manufacturing Company, of Denver, Colorado, was a recent visitor at Pioche, Nevada.

A. S. Ellis of St. Louis, D. F. Servay of Kansas City, H. M. Evans of Pasadena, California, and G. T. Scholberg of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, were recent visitors at the potash properties at Marysvale, Utah.

Robert Howard of Salt Lake, coal mine inspector of Utah, after an inspection of the Carbon county coal fields of Utah, states that the mines there are running two-thirds time and seem to be well supplied with cars.

F. W. Webb of Salt Lake, president and manager of the Iron County Coal Company, left last week for the company’s holdings, near Cedar City, Utah, to supervise the preliminary work incident to the construction of the two-mile aerial tramway planned for the property.

R. B. T. Kiliani, of Salt Lake, western manager for the Hardinge Conical Mill Company, returned last week from an extended business trip to Juneau, Alaska, and to British Columbia points. Salt Lake headquarters of the Hardinge company are in the Newhouse building.

Lee Cochran of San Francisco, manager of the foreign department of the Braun-Kaeche-Heimann Company of that city, was in Salt Lake on business this month. The company deals in chemicals, laboratory supplies and devices, machinery, etc., and has its headquarters at 576 to 584 Mission street.

T. F. Algeo, formerly in charge of the Basin, Wyoming, holdings of the Midwest Refining Company, has been made general superintendent of the company, with headquarters at Casper. Newton S. Wilson, who has held that position in the past, has been promoted to a position in the company’s main offices at Denver.

A. L. Thomas, Jr., of Salt Lake, has been selected president of the Dugway Smelter Company, to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of F. A. Dederichs. Other of-

 Officials of the company are: K. D. Kuhre, vice-president; C. S. Goddard, secretary-treasurer; E. R. Hardy and C. A. Adams, additional directors. Pierre Peugeot is construction engineer. The company is planning the construction of a small smelting plant in the promising Dugway district of Utah.